COURSE DESCRIPTION

Accounting 102 continues the basic principles, concepts, and applications of financial accounting that were introduced in Accounting 101. This course is a prerequisite for further accounting offerings.

The course will emphasize the practical application of accounting and will include the following topics:

- accounts and notes receivable
- payroll liabilities
- property, plant and equipment, depreciation, natural resources, and intangible assets
- current liabilities
- partnerships
- organization and operation of corporations
- bonds and long-term notes payable
- analyzing financial statements

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

- have a complete understanding of the financial reports of a business, including the reporting for sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations. This will require an understanding of the concepts, rules, standards, and principles of financial accounting (Generally Accepted Accounting Principles).
- construct the financial reports of a business.
- interpret the financial reports of a business.
- use systematic procedures to calculate and determine the values to be included in the accounts of a business for all areas of study in this course.
- prepare journal entries for inclusion of appropriate amounts in the accounts of a business for all areas of study in this course.

NOTES

1. Students are required to follow all College policies. Policies are available on the website at: Coquitlam College Policies
2. To find out how this course transfers, visit the BC Transfer Guide at: bctransferguide.ca
3. Students are expected to read assigned chapters/topics prior to class and be prepared to participate in discussions and problem-solving activities on-line. Homework problems will be assigned from time to time. In the opinion of the instructor, it is impossible to complete the class without attempting all assignments. The experience gained in solving the problems is essential for meeting the time constraints of exams.
