COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to the main concepts, theories and methods used by cultural anthropologists to study human beings, human groups, human meanings, and human ways of life. By acquainting ourselves with cultural anthropology we will be better able to understand cultural differences between people, to build positive relationships in situations of cultural diversity and to identify and perhaps both change those cultural conditions which constrain human potential and help build conditions which allow it to develop.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

- Explain the basic characteristics of the anthropological approach to the study of culture
- Analyze economic activity using basic anthropological concepts
- Explain the significance of culture to our understanding of reality.
- Analyze kinship using basic anthropological concepts.
- Explain the significance of culture for identity.
- Explain the social construction of hierarchy.
- Explain the relationship between neoliberalism, globalization, and the nation state.
- Explain the relationship between conflict, violence, and the state.
