COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course explores the history of the world from the origins of complex communities to around the fifth century CE, marking the decline of the Roman Empire, the Jin dynasty and Teotihuacan, as well as the rise of the Gupta Empire. A focus will be placed on the development of social, economic, and political institutions, and the experience of different classes, genders, and ethnic groups. Taking a different region as the focus of each week’s classes, students will be encouraged to compare and contrast the different experiences and traditions of some of the ancient world’s most iconic, as well as lesser-known, societies.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

- Identify and explain the major historical events and themes of world history up to about the fifth century CE.
- Understand and critically evaluate the significance of historical themes, events and developments covered in the course.
- Analyze and employ primary and secondary sources relating to the history of the ancient world.
- Develop critical reading, thinking, and writing skills.
